TOGGERIES ARE IN THE LEAD.

They Had Edge on M-L's in Wednesday's Game—Montgomerys Beat Moooses.

Standing of the Teams.
	Won.	Lost.
Toggeries	8	3
Montgomery-Lyles	7	3
Bull Moooses	6	4
Montgomery Shoe Co.	6	4
Bee Hives	3	6
Berney Harris	3	7

For the first time since the opening of the Normal basketball tournament the Montgomery-Lyle team is out of the lead by virtue of a 15 to 12 defeat Wednesday evening at the hands of the Toggeries, who are now resting in that coveted position. However, the Toggeries have played one more game than the M-L's, as a game between the latter team and the Bee Hives last week resulted in a tie, which hasn't been played off.

Last night's game was a scrap from the very start, although the dimness of the gymnasium lighting system, which is being overhauled, made fast play impossible. "Buck" Holmes scored ten of the Toggeries' fifteen points, while Captain Daise of the defeated team registered all twelve points for the M-L's, with six free throws and three field goals. The line-up:

Toggeries—Forwards, Seymour and Holmes; center, Johnson; guards, Bailey and Shaub.

Montgomery-Lyles—Forwards, Lamar and Daise; center, Houston; guards, Cook and Scott.

Summary—Field goals, Daise 2, Holmes 5, Seymour 2, Shaub.

In the second game of the evening the Bull Moooses lost their exclusive right to third place when the Montgomery Shoe Co. team trounced them by a decisive score of 15 to 8. The two teams are now tied for third place with a record of six lost and five won.

Cap. Woodward of the Shoe Co. was the best scorer of the game with three field goals and a free throw. Line-up: Montgomery Shoe Co.—Forwards, Woodward and Watson; center, C. Starnmer; guards, Powell and Brittain.

Bull Moooses—Forwards, Hanna and Vandersloot; center, Jones; guards, R. Starnmer and Richie.

Summary—Field goals, Woodward 3, Vandersloot 2, C. Starnmer, Powell, Free throws, Vandersloot 3, Watson 2, Woodward, Jones.

STILL NO RESPONSE

EFFORTS TO FIND RELATIVES OF BEHEADED MAN UNAVAILING.

ALL TELEGRAMS RETURNED

Telegram Received States W. L. Corbett Had Removed to Boulder, Col., But He Has Not Been Located.

The mystery surrounding the death of S. W. Corbett has not yet been solved. How he came to be on the railroad track only a short distance from Bedison four hours after he left that place and how he carried his several bundles, comprising the purchases he had made, up to the spot where he was struck, and they were practically unharmed, is all open to conjecture.

All telegrams sent in the effort to locate his relatives have been returned marked "unknown." S. W. Corbett, if that be his true name, is in the undertaking establishment dead, but somewhere in this broad land there must be some near relatives who would like to know this fact.

The men for whom he worked insist that he was a quiet, well behaved young man who did not drink, and his general appearance would indicate that he was well born and that he had not always been accustomed to rough work. His face is the face of a young man, and, except for the yellowness of his skin, that would indicate the cigarette habit, he shows no signs of dissipation. His hands are shapely and well kept, and he wore a five and a half shoe. The surprising thing is that among his effects there is nothing to indicate the whereabouts of his people.

He carried two memorandum books. One of them manifestly was given him, as it contained the name of another man partially rubbed out. Where are the parents who want to know of him and why he is here among strangers with no letters or other thing to lead to further identification are only other mysteries to be added to his presence on the railroad track.

The new shirts, the new shoes and most of the articles he carried were not damaged. In the back of his hat is a dent and a break with a dust streak, and in the rim on the left side are two breaks, one along the brim and the other across, all of which might have been made by some blunt instrument. There are two wounds in his head, one at the back and the other on top of his head. Did the train make these or were they there when the train struck him. It would seem that they might have been, as he was evidently lying diagonally across the track when struck. One foot was cut diagonally and his head was severed by the opposite wheels.

J. E. Bailey of the Maryville Furniture company, who was in charge of the dead man, is of the opinion that there was no foul play, and that it was purely an accident. He thinks that the man had been drinking somewhat, and with all of his bundles, a pair of shoes, a new suit of clothes, underwear, etc., he purchased in Maryville Saturday morning, that on walking down the track he stumbled and fell, his head striking the rail. There was a gash on the back of his head and a fall similar to this would make a man unconscious for some time.

Mr. Bailey and others who have talked with the people of near Bedison, seem to think that this is how the accident happened.

A. W. L. Corbett, according to a telegram received here, had lived at Chadron, Neb., but is now living in Boulder, Colo. Word was sent to Boulder, but up to this time no reply has been received. The initials of his brother, according to the memorandum book, were H. L.

The remains will be kept at the Maryville Furniture company undertaking rooms until some word is received.

A telegram from Sioux county, Nebraska, stated that no one by the name of Corbett lived in that county. Mr. Bailey has written several letters to points in western Nebraska to find traces of the dead man's brother or relatives.

Marshal Moberly, Bert Mack and Mr. Bailey went to Conception Junction this afternoon and are to investigate the matter, and also find out if anyone knows about the man's relatives or brother.

Masterful Speech.

Miss Greta Leigh of Delaware, O., gave the finest address on the question of immigration at the home mission meeting at the Christian church Wednesday afternoon that the ministers of Maryville and others who heard her have ever listened to. Miss Leigh is a wonderful speaker. She spent Thursday in Maryville at the State Normal and enlisted a class of twenty-two in the study of Mormonism in this country. Miss Leigh's talks have two distinct elements—they are inspirational and informational. She gives something to feed the inspiration she stirs in her hearers. ADVERTISED A POST

BANQUET GIVEN BY WIRE MAN-
FACTURERS AT LINVILLE.

TO FARMERS INTERESTED

Half a Hundred Dined and Smoked
While They Listened to Exposition of Merits of New Device.

Nearly fifty men sat down to a banquet given at the Linville hotel Wednesday night by the American Steel and Wire company. Most of the guests were progressive, up-to-date farmers of the county, some of them coming quite a distance, among them being a party of six from Barnard. The menu was served in three courses and was followed by cigars, from the effects of one of which the writer is still suffering.

At the conclusion of the dinner Mr. A. L. Wellman of Chicago was introduced as the principal speaker for the company by Mr. H. B. Cox, representing C. A. Barbour, the local agent of the American people. Mr. Wellman gave a very interesting history of the negotiations and investigations leading up to the payment of a quarter of a million dollars for the patent, machinery and business of the farmers' concern which was manufacturing the product, the exploitation of which was the object of the banquet—the American steel fence post. He gave a thorough explanation of the manner in which both fence wire and posts were manufactured, gave the explanation of sagging fence wires, broken wires, frost heaved posts and other fence defects. Samples of the posts which the company is trying to introduce to Missouri farmers were shown, and for more than an hour those present heard one of the most convincing talkers and capable salesmen that ever "hit" Maryville explain, extol and demonstrate the good features of what is, in the judgment of the writer, destined to replace the hedge post in the affections of the farmer and stockman. His talk was an advertisement, pure and simple, but it was an advertisement presented to a set of men who were thoroughly interested in the subject, and it was presented in such a clear, forcible manner that it carried conviction with it.

At the conclusion of Mr. Wellman's talk he asked that any one having any questions to ask should feel free to do so. A number of the gentlemen present availed themselves of the opportunity to ask about points they did not understand.

Prof. John E. Cameron of the North-west Normal confirmed many of the scientific claims of the demonstrator, and stated that he had seen fence constructed with the posts. He especially commended the idea that the steel posts the fence row could be cleared of vegetation by burning, thus eliminating insects that prey upon growing crops, and stating that modern educators along agricultural lines are impressing the necessity of this important matter upon their pupils.

A number of sales were made in the banquet room by the enterprising salesmen for Mr. Barbour, ten or twelve of those present placing orders before leaving the room.

The good points of the post are set out in an advertisement which appears in another column of this paper.

FORBID THE COLORING OF PEAS.

What the State Department of Food and Drug Inspection Is Doing.

Circular of information No. 23, just issued by Dr. Cutler, commissioner of the department of food and drug inspection, expressly forbids the coloring of peas, either from sulphate of copper or any other coloring agent, whether so labeled or not, as the same is known to be injurious to health.

One day recently in one of the large cities of the state, one of the inspectors of the department of food and drug inspection, Dr. Cutler, commissioner, condemned and sent to the dump 13,000 pounds of fish. This fish had been frozen, and having been allowed to thaw, was full of mold, bacteria, etc.

The department of food and drug inspection under Dr. Cutler has been actively engaged the last month in endeavoring to stamp out the manufacture of impure butter in Southwest Missouri. This article is made from renovated stock and a mixture of other ingredients, and contains at least 50 per cent moisture, unfair competition to the regular butter makers, who are not permitted under the law to have more than 16 per cent moisture in their butter. The parties who have been manufacturing this stuff have been arrested by the state and are under investigation by the government. It is believed that this unfair competition will be stamped out.

MUST HAVE STEEL

BACKBONE OF STEEL NEEDED TO SERVE GOD.

SAYSEVANGELISTHARMON

Large Crowd at Christian Church Last Night and One More Addition to the Membership.

A large crowd was present at Christian church last night at a revival meeting. There was a sermon, Rev. Walter E. Harman his best and delivered an address, his subject being "Discipleship." The text was Luke 9:57-62.

Evangelist Harmon spoke three tests that are applied to him aspires to discipleship. He part:

"The highest and holiest call which one can aspire to is that of being a Christian, yet the tests are the most exacting of any calling on earth. Anybody can be a sinner. There are no tests applied to him who sins, no standards of measurement which he has to meet. Anybody can lie, anybody can get drunk, anybody can swear, but only a man of real worth can serve God. He must have steel in his backbone and real big red corpuscles in his blood. Nevertheless, while the tests are exacting and the standards are high, it is eminently worth one's while to be a Christian. It pays big dividends both here and hereafter.

"Then there is the second test—'the fellow who says, 'Suffer me first.' He wants to precede his Lord in everything. This class is large, dangerous than the first class that is filling up our day and smothering out our life. The first class said: 'I am hard to be a Christian,' and turned around and walked a second class said: 'We'll demonstrate over this matter; we'll go slow and easy.' It's the old story of the man asleep at the switch or the pilot showing himself to be a derelict and thus wrecking his vessel on the rocks on ing harvest thanksgiving services in our churches well illustrates the bewildered which pre-exists among educated churchmen struggling to reconcile their more enlightened view of Nature with ecclesiastical traditions.

Some are disposed to hold that a display of public gratitude for benefits so clearly withheld would savor of ingratitude. What earnestness or spiritual worth, they ask, can attend so indiscriminate a thanksgiving? If you ask and do not receive, ought you to be as thankful for benefits withheld as for benefits bestowed.

Theology apart, common sense revolts against a ceremonial which in so literal a sense goes against the grain. Some protest against the empty falsehood of a service wherein is sung the hymn beginning "When all is safely gathered in." How can farmers, crossing their blackened fields to enter a gayly decorated church, be expected to join in a chorus of gratitude?—London Nation.

One on Father.
Brightness personified is little Johnny Pule. Certain friends of the family consider him rather precocious —but that's quite another story. At any rate, he is the pride of his father's heart, and Pule, Sr., invariably refers to the youngster as a "regular chip from the old block."

The other night little Johnny looked up from his stool by the fireside, and ejaculated the query:

"I'm a chip from the old block,
ain't I, father?"

"Yes, my son, indeed you are,"
came the proud reply.

"And, pa, you're the head of the family, ain't you?" asked the simple little lad.

"I am," replied Pule.

"Then," chuckled Johnny triumphantly, "you must be a blockhead!"

But we will draw a kindly veil over what followed.

Good Fellowship.

Good fellowship is as old as man.
It is one of the elemental things—rooted in man with good and evil, love and hate. Its temples are wherever good men get together; its shrines and sanctuaries the hearts of men. More than the impetuous comradeship of youth, it is the settled faith of men in men. Passing all boundaries of nation, creed or calling, it asks only the open heart, the honest purpose, the cheerful countenance.
Its password is the kindling eye, its pledge the hearty hand—its finest messages are unspeakable. It is the golden age made manifest. Rites, religions, men and measures pass—good fellowship remains; for it is eternal love of life, eternal faith, eternal charity and cheer.—James Edward Kehler.

Revelation.

The hero of this story is a famous dramatic author. The plays he has written have electrified thousands upon thousands of people, and he has mastered the art of making men and women laugh or cry at his own sweet will.

On one occasion a friend of his found him at his desk working on a new drama.

"So you are writing a new play?"
asked the friend.

In reply the author confessed his sin.

"No," he said, "I am just remembering one from all those I have seen produced. It's easier."—Popular Magazine.

DESCHAUER

For 25 Years Your Jeweler.

DEATH IN LEWIS FAMILY.

"Old Whitey," a Most Faithful Biddy
Hen, Served Two Generations Well.

Old Methuselah himself didn't have anything on a white Oneal Dominie hen which, until her untimely death last Sabbath morn was the property of Fred Lewis, banker and chicken fancier, who resides on North Main street.

The aforesaid Biddy, whose Christian name was "Whitey," was 13 years old last summer, and it goes without saying that she hadn't a tooth left in her head. Nevertheless, up until a few months ago "Whitey" continued steady-ly on the job, laying eggs.

Now, according to Prof. John E.
Cameron, head of the agricultural department of the Normal, the ordinary life of a hen is 6 or 7 years, providing, of course, she escapes "la gullotine."

Was "Whitey's" longevity due to her regular diet of Post toasties or corn flakes, or some other present day co-ereal? Nay, nay, Pauline! When Biddy was yet a gay and giddy pullet
Mr. Post had never dreamed of toasting "toasties," and corn flakes had not yet been flaked. No, indeed, there is little doubt in the mind of the writer that the very rule that allowed Biddy to live to such a ripe old age was none other than that old maxim, "early to bed, and early to rise, makes a 'hen' healthy"—but why quote farther when that's all that concerns old "Whitey?"

POINTS FOR CHICKEN RAISERS

Evidently Written by One Who Has No Particular Liking for the Humble "Biddy."

Chickens are the most dad-busted, uncertainest creatures that walk the family acre. Not the kind of chickens this lady who is wearing O. Henry's kimono—beg pardon, mantle—writes about, but our old, familiar, feathered friends.

Never raised any? Well, you will, all right. Most universal pursuit in this whole wide world, outside of paying bills. Merchant, banker, broker, farmer, city man, commuter—almost everybody tries to raise chickens at some time or another. Looks easy—that's the deceiving part of it.

And it is easy, after you learn one thing. Little chickens don't know anything, medium-sized chickens don't know anything, big chickens don't know anything. If there is any chance of an intellectual nature as the size increases, the big ones know less, if possible, than the little ones.

If there is a wire partition in your pen, with an open door at one end, the chickens will try to plunge through the wire instead of going round and walking through the door.
In the course of time, when the birds get heavy, they will hang themselves trying to do this if you don't watch them.

Hen chickens are more valuable than roosters, because they can lay eggs if they will. But if you take a dozen small chickens and raise them carefully, it is always surprising how many of them turn out to be roosters. Sometimes they will sprout tail feathers at the very last minute.
Just when you are thinking they ought to be ready to lay eggs. At this time you must get busy with the barnyard gullotine, or ax, as it is familiarly called.—Puck.

NEGLIGEE AND ITS SETTING

Harmony With the Surroundings is the Desired End It is Sought to Achieve.

Imagine a kimono of China blue and white silk in one of those illusive designs of the far east, and let it be the gown to be donned only in a room decorated in the Chinese style so prevalent in modern day furnishing revivals.
There would be curtains of rich blue,
with cretonnes of willow pattern covering the armchairs, tall lamps with shades of blue and white and a few vases of Nankin blue. What a fascinating, restful, retiring harbor for a tired woman, where she can sip the fragrant beverage which is China, also,
in cups of egg shell daintiness.

Another fascinating fashion in tea gowns is the Watteau style, which gives scope for delicate color harmo-nies, and which conjures up a vision at once of a Louis Seize boudoir with pink and blue tapestries and gold legged chairs and tiny tables. The sweetest Watteau gown, made with a box plait from the shoulders, hangs loosely from the center of the back and is draped in graceful folds below
the hips.

TEACHES MANY FARMERS

College of Agriculture Gives Practical Instruction in Short Winter Courses.

The College of Agriculture has given instruction to more than 1500 farmers in the short winter course.
This course was started fifteen years ago and the attendance has continuously increased. There were 279 in attendance last year, besides four sea women who took the course in household science.

Instruction is offered in animal husbandry, agronomy, dairy husbandry, farm management, veterinary science, agriculture, poultry husbandry, and crop work.

Work begins this year on November 1 and continues for four months and is divided into two terms of seven weeks each, the second term beginning January 6th. Two years' work is given and students who complete the work are given a certificate.

A little lad was found on the street crying very bitterly because his cart was broken. The kindly disposed traveller endeavored to cheer up the little fellow by saying: "Never mind, your father can't do it." "No," said the little fellow, "my father can't do it, but I can."

CASCARETS SURELY STRAIGHTEN YOU UP

No Headache, Biliousness, Upset Stomach, Lazy Liver or Constipated Bowels by Morning.

Are you keeping your bowels, liver and stomach clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway through these alimentary or drainage organs every few days with salts, cathartic pills, castor oil or purgative waters.

Stop having a bowel wash day. Let Cascarets thoroughly cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the undigested, sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken or cause any inconvenience, and cost you only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have headache, biliousness, coated tongue, indigestion, sour stomach or constipated bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.—Advertisement.

NEW IDEA SEIZES ENGLAND

League to Prevent Domestic Breezes From Developing Into Gales Is Latest Fad Taken Up.

A National League for the Promotion of Domestic Happiness is the latest proposal for England. It has for its promoters a few clergymen who have been impressed by the extraordinary number of couples in their parishes who have obtained separation orders from the magistrates because of domestic strife.

The idea of the clerics is that magistrates are too accommodating to applicants chafing under the matrimonial harness and if efforts were made to subdue domestic breezes they would mostly be prevented from developing into gales. So this league is to organize ministers of all denominations and kind Christians of both sexes to act as peacemakers.

They will take their respective parishes under survey and in cases of household strife where the husband is at fault the member of the league most likely to influence him will be selected to intervene and subsequently keep an eye on the culprit. If the wife is the offender then some sympathetic woman will plead with her.

Most enthusiastic workers among the poor, especially in the north, call these separation orders the "working class equivalent to divorce," the latter being too expensive for them to obtain.

The consequence is they have no real freedom, and looseness of morals is the result. In industrial centers, where both husband and wife are wage earners, this is especially the case. Lancashire alone has 25,000 people separated by law, but not free to remarry.

SAYS OYSTERS SUFFER AGONY

Dr. Wiley Asserts They Endure Agonizing Pain When Doused With Tabasco Sauce.

"Oysters on the half shell suffer untold agony when eaten," said Dr. Harvey Wiley, formerly Uncle Sam's pure food expert, the other night, according to a New York Herald Washington correspondent. "Ninety per cent of them when eaten are alive and kicking. They suffer the most excruciating pains when you jab them with a fork and follow with a sprinkling of salt, pepper and tabasco sauce."

"It is true that they are a very low order of life, but as they eat and drink they must be live animals and have feeling. Imagine some monster coming to earth from Mars who thought that we poor human beings were very succulent morsels of food when eaten alive. It would indeed be a nice sensation to be pecked full of holes and covered with about six pounds of salt."

"However, this will not deter me from indulging in the delicious half-shell habit. I am going to eat my oysters in such a way as to save them pain—one jab with a fork, put the sauce on quickly and then gobble it."

"It's a good thing that they can't yell and jump, for if they were so our dining rooms would be full of tragic wailings and shrieks. However, this would not be so bad, for we would then have the alternative of cooking them."

Paid Scott $15,000 for a Poem.

What is the highest price ever paid by a publisher for a poem? It would be interesting to know whether any advance has ever been made on the $15,000 that Scott received for "Rokeby." Stephen Gwynn, in his life of Moore, tells us that Murray offered $10,000 for the copyright of "Lalla Rookh," but Moore's friends thought he should have more and, going to Longman, they claimed that Mr. Moore should receive no less than the highest price ever paid for a poem. "That," said Longman, "was $15,000 paid for 'Rokeby.'" On this basis they treated, and Longman was inclined to stipulate for a preliminary perusal. Moore, however, refused, and the agreement was finally worded: "That upon your giving into our hands a poem of the length of 'Rokeby' you shall receive from us a sum of $15,000."

Light Like That of Day.

Patents have just been taken out in Germany for using marble instead of glass in lamps, which has the effect of making the illumination scarcely distinguishable from daylight. Innumerable experiments have been made with tinted and patterned types of glass with the idea of producing this effect, but all have been failures. As a last recourse a sheet of white marble was placed down until it was semi-transparent and then different intensities of light were shown from behind. The result was exactly what so many hundreds of experiments had failed to produce.

Developing this discovery the patentees have fitted lights to the cornice of a room with such success that it is difficult to prove that it is artificially lighted.

Poet's Unhappy Childhood.

Thomas Gray, author of the immortal elegy, was one of 12 children and he only one of the lot that lived. His seemed destined to go the way of his brothers and sisters, and was suffering from convulsions, when his mother, in desperation, opened a vein in his arm with a pair of scissors and saved his life. His father, a sour, jealous man, had no use for him or for his mother, and never contributed to their support. His lonely and unhappy childhood explains the melancholy that tinged his life and writings.

Why Salves Can't Cure Eczema

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin diseases. But it has been found that these salves only clog the pores and cannot penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged.

This—the quality of penetrating—probably explains the tremendous success of the well known liquid eczema remedy, oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., as compounded in D.D.D. Prescription.

We have sold other remedies for skin troubles but none that we can recommend as highly as this for we know that D.D.D. stops the itch at once. We can give you a trial size bottle for 25 cents that will be enough to prove it.

Of course all other druggists have D.D.D. Prescription—go to them if you can't come to us—but don't accept some big profit substitute.

But if you come to our store, we are so certain of what D.D.D. will do for you that we offer you a full size bottle on this guarantee—If you do not find that it takes away the itch AT ONCE, it costs you not a cent.

REULLARD AUTO SUIT PROBABLY FIRST IN COURT.

CASE WILL TAKE ALL DAY

The Criminal Docket Will Be Reached Friday and Will Require Three Days to Finish.

The case of Frank P. Reullard vs. David Stollard of Holt county for $210 damages to the Reullard automobile as a result of an automobile collision in which the defendant is charged with negligence and careless driving, was up in circuit court today. The accident occurred on Sunday, September 22, and as a result of the accident no one was seriously hurt.

Quit a number of witnesses are to be examined and it is probably that the case will take the rest of today. Shinabargar, Blagg & Ellison are the attorneys for the plaintiff, and Harvey & Sawyer of this city, and Judge O'Fallon of Oregon, for the defendant. The case is attracting a great deal of interest as it is about the first automobile case in court.

The jury that is hearing the case is composed of John Campbell, Wm. Miles, James Patterson, Andrew Price, Jacob Nelson, John Vert, U. S. Wright, Geo. Hartley, John Herron, J. M. Conley, John Keats, and Summer Shockley.

The criminal docket will be taken up Friday morning and the first case set is that of Fred Green, charged with violation of the local option law. There are many important criminal cases and this docket will probably take up three days of court.

Other proceedings of circuit court are as follows: Wm. E. Allen vs. Horace Jones, an appeal from the J. P. court by defendant. Cause submitted to court and finding for defendant.

M. H. and John Borrasch vs. J. W. Herndon and T. W. Costello on notes. Defendants defaulted and cause submitted and finding for plaintiffs for $24.59.

Maryville National bank vs. Elma Trueblood, attachment on note. Cause submitted and finding for plaintiff for $325.85 at 8 per cent interest.

A. J. Ashlock vs. C. G. W. Motion to sue as poor person sustained and defendant allowed to sue as such. Nancy J. Cook, executrix, vs. Ella D. Godsey, on notes, finding for plaintiff for $126.02 and $464.

French Carter was made a member of petit jury and his name was ordered on that jury by Sheriff Tilson.

TOGGERIES ARE IN THE LEAD.

They Had Edge on M-L's in Wednesday's Game—Montgomerys Beat Moores.

Standing of the Teams.
	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Toggeries	8	3	.727
Montgomery-Lyles	7	3	.700
Bull Moores	5	6	.454
Montgomery Shoe Co.	5	6	.454
Bee Hives	3	6	.300
Berney Harris	3	7	.300

For the first time since the opening of the Normal basketball tournament the Montgomery-Lyle team is out of the lead by virtue of a 15 to 12 defeat Wednesday evening at the hands of the Toggeries, who are now resting in that coveted position. However, the Toggeries have played one more game than the M-L's, as a game between the latter team and the Bee Hives last week resulted in a tie, which hasn't been played off.

Last night's game was a scrap from the very start, although the dimness of the gymnasium lighting system, which is being overhauled, made fast play impossible. "Buck" Holmes scored ten of the Toggeries' fifteen points, while Captain Daise of the defeated team registered all twelve points for the M-L's, with six free throws and three field goals. The line-up:

Toggeries—Forwards, Seymour and Holmes; center, Johnson; guards, Bailey and Shaub.

Montgomery-Lyles—Forwards, Lamour and Daise; center, Houston; guards, Cook and Scott.

Summary—Field goals, Daise 3, Holmes 5, Seymour. Free throws, Daise 6, Seymour 2, Shaub.

In the second game of the evening the Bull Moores lost their exclusive right to third place when the Montgomery Shoe Co. team trounced them by a decisive score of 15 to 8. The two teams are now tied for third place with a record of six lost and five won.

Cap. Woodward of the Shoe Co.'s was the best shot of the game with three field goals and a free throw. Line-up: Montgomery Shoe Co.—Forwards, Woodward and Watson; center, C. Starnier; guards, Powell and Brittain.

Bull Moores—Forwards, Hanna and Vandersloot; center, Jones; guards, R. Starnier and Riche.

Summary—Field goals, Woodward 3, Vandersloot 2, C. Starnier, Powell, Free throws, Vandersloot 3, Watson 2, Woodward, Jones.

STILL NO RESPONSE

EFFORTS TO FIND RELATIVES OF BEHEADED MAN UNAVAILING.

ALL TELEGRAMS RETURNED

Telegram Received States W. L. Corbett Had Removed to Boulder, Col., But He Has Not Been Located.

The mystery surrounding the death of S. W. Corbett has not yet been solved. How he came to be on the railroad track only a short distance from Bedford four hours after he left that place and how he carried his several bundles, comprising the purchases he had made, up to the spot where he was struck, and they were practically unharmed, is all open to conjecture.

All telegrams sent in the effort to locate his relatives have been returned marked "unknown." S. W. Corbett, if that be his true name, is in the undertaking establishment dead, but somewhere in this broad land there must be some near relatives who would like to know this fact.

The men for whom he worked insist that he was a quiet, well behaved young man who did not drink, and his general appearance would indicate that he was well born and that he had not always been accustomed to rough work. His face is the face of a young man, and, except for the yellowness of his skin, that would indicate the cigarette habit, he shows no signs of dissipation. His hands are shapely and well kept, and he wore a five and a half shoe. The surprising thing is that among his effects there is nothing to indicate the whereabouts of his people.

He carried two memorandum books. One of them manifestly was given him, as it contained the name of another man partially rubbed out. Where are the parents who want to know of him and why he is here among strangers with no letters or other thing to lead to further identification are only other mysteries to be added to his presence on the railroad track.

The new shirts, the new shoes and most of the articles he carried were not damaged. In the back of his hat is a dent and a break with a dust streak, and in the rim on the left side are two breaks, one along the brim and the other across, all of which might have been made by some blunt instrument. There are two wounds in his head, one at the back and the other on top of his head. Did the train make these or were they there when the train struck him. It would seem that they might have been, as he was evidently lying diagonally across the track when struck. One foot was cut diagonally and his head was severed by the opposite wheels.

J. E. Bailey of the Maryville Furniture company, who was in charge of the dead man, is of the opinion that there was no foul play, and that it was purely an accident. He thinks that the man had been drinking somewhat, and with all his bundles, a pair of shoes, a new suit of clothes, underwear, etc., he purchased in Maryville Saturday morning, that on walking down the track he stumbled and fell, his head striking the rail. There was a gash on the back of his head and a fall similar to this would make a man unconscious for some time.

Mr. Bailey and others who have talked with the people of near Bedford, seem to think that this is how the accident happened.

A. W. L. Corbett, according to a telegram received here, had lived at Chadron, Neb., but is now living in Boulder, Colo. Word was sent to Boulder, but up to this time no reply has been received. The initials of his brother, according to the memorandum book, were H. L.

The remains will be kept at the Maryville Furniture company undertaking rooms until some word is received.

A telegram from Sioux county, Nebraska, stated that no one by the name of Corbett lived in that county. Mr. Bailey has written several letters to points in western Nebraska to find traces of the dead man's brother or relatives.

Marshal Moberly, Bert Mack and Mr. Bailey went to Conception Junction this afternoon and are to investigate the matter, and also find out if anyone knows about the man's relatives or brother.

Last Afternoon Meeting of the Home Mission Week of Prayer Heard a Masterful Speech.

Miss Greeta Leigh of Delaware, O., gave the finest address on the question of immigration at the home mission meeting at the Christian church Wednesday afternoon that the ministers of Maryville and others who heard her have ever listened to. Miss Leigh is a wonderful speaker. She spent Thursday in Maryville at the State Normal and enlisted a class of twenty-two in the study of Mormonism in this country. Miss Leigh's talks have two distinct elements—they are inspirational and informational. She gives something to feed the inspiration she stirs in her hearers. She was the guest of Mrs. Henry Wright while in the city.

The funeral services were conducted by the writer Tuesday at 10 a. m., in the home of the parents of the deceased child, and the remains were laid to rest in Swinford cemetery. ADVERTISED A POST

BANQUET GIVEN BY WIRE MANUFACTURERS AT LINVILLE.

TO FARMERS INTERESTED

Half a Hundred Dined and Smoked While They Listened to Exposition of Merits of New Device.

Nearly fifty men sat down to a banquet given at the Linville hotel Wednesday night by the American Steel and Wire company. Most of the guests were progressive, up-to-date farmers of the county, some of them coming quite a distance, among them being a party of six from Barnard. The menu was served in three courses and was followed by cigars, from the effects of one of which the writer is still suffering.

At the conclusion of the dinner Mr. A. L. Wellman of Chicago was introduced as the principal speaker for the company by Mr. H. B. Cox, representing C. A. Barbour, the local agent of the American people. Mr. Wellman gave a very interesting history of the negotiations and investigations leading up to the payment of a quarter of a million dollars for the patent, machinery and business of the farmers' concern which was manufacturing the product, the exploitation of which was the object of the banquet—the American steel fence post. He gave a thorough explanation of the manner in which both fence wire and posts were manufactured, gave the explanation of sagging fence wires, broken wires, frost heaved posts and other fence defects. Samples of the posts which the company is trying to introduce to Missouri farmers were shown, and for more than an hour those present heard one of the most convincing talkers and capable salesmen that ever "hit" Maryville explain, extol and demonstrate the good features of what is, in the judgment of the writer, destined to replace the hedge post in the affections of the farmer and stockman. His talk was an advertisement, pure and simple, but it was an advertisement presented to a set of men who were thoroughly interested in the subject, and it was presented in such a clear, forcible manner that it carried conviction with it.

At the conclusion of Mr. Wellman's talk he asked that any one having any questions to ask should feel free to do so. A number of the gentlemen present asked themselves of the opportunity to avail about points they did not understand.

Prof. John E. Cameron of the Northwest Normal confirmed many of the scientific claims of the demonstrator, and stated that he had seen fence constructed with the posts. He especially commended the idea that the steel posts the fence row could be cleared of vegetation by burning, thus eliminating insects that prey upon growing crops, and stating that modern educators along agricultural lines are impressing the necessity of this important matter upon their pupils.

A number of sales were made in the banquet room by the enterprising salesmen for Mr. Barbour, ten or twelve of those present placing orders before leaving the room.

The good points of the post are set out in an advertisement which appears in another column of this paper.

FORBID THE COLORING OF PEAS.

What the State Department of Food and Drug Inspection is Doing.

Circular of information No. 23, just issued by Dr. Cutler, commissioner of the department of food and drug inspection, expressly forbids the coloring of peas, either from sulphate of copper or any other coloring agent, whether so labeled or not, as the same is known to be injurious to health.

One day recently in one of the large cities of the state, one of the inspectors of the department of food and drug inspection, Dr. Cutler commissioner, condemned and sent to the dump 13,000 pounds of fish. This fish had been frozen, and having been allowed to thaw, was full of mold, bacteria, etc.

The department of food and drug inspection under Dr. Cutler has been actively engaged the last month in endeavoring to stamp out the manufacture of impure butter in Southwest Missouri. This article is made from renovated stock and a mixture of other ingredients, and contains at least 50 per cent moisture, unfair competition to the regular butter makers, who are not permitted under the law to have more than 16 per cent moisture in their butter. The parties who have been manufacturing this stuff have been arrested by the state and are under investigation by the government. It is believed that this unfair competition will be stamped out.

MUST HAVE STEEL

BACKBONE OF STEEL NEEDED TO SERVE GOD.

SAYSEVANGELISTHARMON

Large Crowd at Christian Church Last Night and One More Addition to the Membership.

A large crowd was present at Christian church last night at a revival meeting. There was on sion. Rev. Walter E. Harman his best and delivered an sermon, his subject being "Discipleship." The text was Luke 9:57-62.

Evangelist Harmon spoke three tests that are applied to h aspires to discipleship. He part:

"The highest and holiest call which one can aspire to is that of a Christian, yet the tests are the most exacting of any calling on earth. Anybody can be a sinner. There are no tests applied to him who sins, no standards of measurement which he has to meet. Anybody can lie, anybody can get drunk, anybody can swear, but only a man of real worth can serve God. He must have steel in his backbone and real big red corpuscles in his blood. Nevertheless, while the tests are exacting and the standards are high, it is eminently worth one's while to be a Christian. It pays big dividends both here and hereafter.

"Then there is the second test—the fellow who says, 'Suffer me first.' He wants to precede his Lord. This class is large and dangerous than the first class that is filling up our day and smothering out its life. The first class child, hard to be a Christian, and turned around and walked away. The second class said: 'We'll deliberate over this matter; we'll go slow and easy.' It's the old story of the man asleep at the switch or the pilot showing himself to be a derelict and thus wrecking his vessel on the rocks on icebergs.

"The third test was aimed at that class of people who are too soft to be Christians. Those who had to get the consent of friends at home, or in society. When one has set his hand to the plow and turned back he is not fit for the kingdom of God.

"What better answers than these can we give to Christ's claims? Remember, too, Christ never asked any man to give up anything except that which is not for his own good. He knows better than we."

SUCCESSFUL OPENING.

Seventeenth Annual Bazaar of the First M. E. Church Has Auspicious Beginning—275 at Dinner.

The ladies of the First M. E. church entertained 275 guests at their chicken pie dinner Thursday, the opening day of their seventeenth annual bazaar. Those who know declare it was the best chicken pie dinner the ladies have served, and they are famous in this particular line, as everybody knows. It is expected that they will have as many guests at their chicken pie supper Thursday evening.

The booths are as attractive as ever and business opened up briskly Thursday afternoon. The committees not heretofore mentioned in charge of booths are Mrs. Emmett Scott, assisted by Misses Isora and Jeannette Mutz and Edna Wilson, at the candy booth; Mrs. Charles McNeal and Mrs. Harold VanSteenbergh at the variety booth, prepared by Mrs. McNeal's Sunday school class.

The entertainment tonight will be interesting and entertaining. There will be excellent music, and the principal feature will be the presentation in pantomime of Jean Ingelow's "The Seven Ages," portraying that many periods in a woman's life, and there will be a wedding scene. Those taking the main parts will be Merle Ford, Isora Mutz, Annetta Loranee, Edna Moore, Mabel Gay, Mary Evans and Grace DeMotte.

SHALL ENGLISH GIVE THANKS

Some Favor Suspending the Regular Service on This Occasion Because of No Harvest.

The discussion which is taking place just now as to the propriety of holding harvest thanksgiving services in our churches well illustrates the bewilderment which prevails among educated churchmen struggling to reconcile their more enlightened view of Nature with ecclesiastical traditions.

Some are disposed to hold that a display of public gratitude for benefits so clearly withheld would savor of ineptitude. What earnestness or spiritual worth, they ask, can attend so indiscriminate a thanksgiving? If you ask and do not receive, ought you to be as thankful for benefits withheld as for benefits bestowed.

Theology apart, common sense revolts against a ceremonial which in so literal a sense goes against the grain. Some protest against the empty falsehood of a service wherein is sung the hymn beginning "When all is safely gathered in." How can farmers, crossing their blackened fields to enter a gayly decorated church, be expected to join in a chorus of gratitude?—London Nation.

One on Father.
Brightness personified is little Johnny Pule. Certain friends of the family consider him rather precocious—but that's quite another story. At any rate, he is the pride of his father's heart, and Pule, Sr., invariably refers to the youngster as a "regular chip from the old block."

The other night little Johnny looked up from his stool by the fireside, and ejaculated the query:

"I'm a chip from the old block, ain't I, father?"

"Yes, my son, indeed you are," came the proud reply.

"And, pa, you're the head of the family, ain't you?" asked the simple little lad.

"I am," replied Pule.

"Then," chuckled Johnny triumphantly, "you must be a blockhead!"

But we will draw a kindly veil over what followed.

Good Fellowship.

Good fellowship is as old as man. It is one of the elemental things—rooted in man with good and evil, love and hate. Its temples are wherever good men get together; its shrines and sanctuaries the hearts of men. More than the impetuous comradeship of youth, it is the settled faith of men in men. Passing all boundaries of nation, creed or calling, it asks only the open heart, the honest purpose, the cheerful countenance. Its password is the kindling eye, its pledge the hearty hand—its finest messages are unspoken. It is the golden age made manifest. Rites, religions, men and measures pass—good fellowship remains; for it is eternal love of life, eternal faith, eternal charity and cheer.—James Edward Kehler.

Revelation.

The hero of this story is a famous dramatic author. The plays he has written have electrified thousands upon thousands of people, and he has mastered the art of making men and women laugh or cry at his own sweet will.

On one occasion a friend of his found him at his desk working on a new drama.

"So you are writing a new play?" asked the friend.

In reply the author confessed his sin.

"No," he said. "I am just remembering one from all those I have seen produced. It's easier."—Popular Magazine.

DEATH IN LEWIS FAMILY.

"Old Whitey," a Most Faithful Biddy Hen, Served Two Generations Well.

Old Methuselah himself didn't have anything on a white Oneal Dominio hen which, until her untimely death last Sabbath morn was the property of Fred Lewis, banker and chicken fancier, who resides on North Main street.

The aforemaid Biddy, whose Christian name was "Whitey," was 13 years old last summer, and it goes without saying that she hadn't a tooth left in her head. Nevertheless, up until a few months ago "Whitey" continued steadily on the job, laying eggs.

Now, according to Prof. John E. Cameron, head of the agricultural department of the Normal, the ordinary life of a hen is 6 or 7 years, providing, of course, she escapes "la guillotine."

Was "Whitey's" longevity due to her regular diet of Post toasties or corn flakes, or some other present day cereal? Nay, nay, Pauline! When Biddy was yet a gay and giddy pullet Mr. Post had never dreamed of toasting "toasties," and corn flakes had not yet been flaked. No, indeed, there is little doubt in the mind of the writer that the very rule that allowed Biddy to live to such a ripe old age was none other than that old maxim, "early to bed, and early to rise, makes a 'hen' healthy"—but why quote farther when that's all that concerns old "Whitey?"

POINTS FOR CHICKEN RAISERS

Evidently Written by One Who Has No Particular Liking for the Humble "Biddy."

Chickens are the most dabbled, uncertain creatures that walk the family acre. Not the kind of chickens this lady who is wearing O. Henry's kimono—beg pardon, mantle—writes about, but our old, familiar, feathered friends.

Never raised any? Well, you will, all right. Most universal pursuit in this whole wide world, outside of paying bills. Merchant, banker, broker, farmer, city man, commuter—almost everybody tries to raise chickens at some time or another. Looks easy—that's the deceiving part of it.

And it is easy, after you learn one thing: Little chickens don't know anything, medium-sized chickens don't know anything, big chickens don't know anything. If there is any change of an intellectual nature as the size increases, the big ones know less, if possible, than the little ones.

If there is a wire partition in your pen, with an open door at one end, the chickens will try to plunge through the wire instead of going round and walking through the door. In the course of time, when the birds get heavy, they will hang themselves trying to do this if you don't watch them.

Hen chickens are more valuable than roosters, because they can lay eggs if they will. But if you take a dozen small chickens and raise them carefully, it is always surprising how many of them turn out to be roosters. Sometimes they will sprout tail feathers at the very last minute. Just when you are thinking they ought to be ready to lay eggs. At this time you must get busy with the barnyard guillotine, or ax, as it is familiarly called.—Puck.

NEGLIGEE AND ITS SETTING

Harmony With the Surroundings is the Desired End It is Sought to Achieve.

Imagine a kimono of China blue and white silk in one of those illusive designs of the far east, and let it be the gown to be donned only in a room decorated in the Chinese style so prevalent in modern day furnishing revivals. There would be curtains of rich blue, with cretonnes of willow pattern covering the armchairs, tall lamps with shades of blue and white and a few vases of Nankin blue. What a fascinating, restful, retiring harbor for a tired woman, where she can sip the fragrant beverage which is China, also, in cups of egg shell daintiness.

Another fascinating fashion in tea gowns is the Watteau style, which gives scope for delicate color harmonies, and which conjures up a vision at once of a Louis Seize boudoir with pink and blue tapestries and gold legged chairs and tiny tables. The newest Watteau gown, made with a plait from the shoulders, hangs loosely from the center of the back and is draped in graceful folds below the hips.

Instruction is offered in animal husbandry, agronomy, dairy husbandry, farm management, veterinary science, horticulture, poultry husbandry, and crop work.

Work begins this year on November 15 and continues for four months. The course is divided into two terms of seven weeks each, the second term beginning January 6th. Two years' work is offered and students who complete the work are given a certificate.

IS SHREWD BUSINESS WOMAN

Mrs. Frank Hing of New York Has Been Successful in Accumulating American Dollars.

Waiting on customers with an Oriental charm and politeness that daily wins new patrons to her laundry in Bleeker street, Mrs. Frank Hing, daughter of the Flowery Kingdom, is rapidly accumulating American dollars that are estimated already to reach into the thousands.

Mrs. Hing, who is a fine specimen of the Chinese matron of middle age, is a militant suffragist of the most pronounced type. She is an advocate of "votes for women," and points with pride to the action of the new Chinese assembly in granting suffrage to her sisters in China.

The first Chinese business woman in New York city, and probably in this country, came to the United States only two years ago, quickly acquired a speaking knowledge of the English language, and by reason of her fine aptitude for business was speedily elevated by her husband to take full charge of the laundry.

Mrs. Hing receives the laundry packages, gives out the checks, receives the money, pays the bills, and her husband stands over the washtub and cooks the meals in a rear room, assisted by an 18-year-old son.

Soon after Mrs. Hing assumed charge of the business she began to buy and sell second-hand clothing.

All day long, and even into the late hours of the night, men who are in trouble financially can be seen entering the laundry to part with wearing apparel in order to raise money to eat and to pay for a night's lodging.

Many of these come from the large men's hotel across the street. In all such transactions Mrs. Hing takes advantage of their plight with Chinese cunning and gets for a trifling cost garments that are renovated and afterward sold at a big profit.—New York Herald.

SMALL LESSON IN ETIQUETTE

Probably Mickey Shea Stretched the Truth, but the Lesson Must Have Been Driven Home.

Before Mickey Shea got into Tammany politics in New York he was a newsboy in Toledo. Then he became a page in the United States senate. Then he came to New York and began to get rich. That sort of an education quickens one's wits and sharpens any native ability one may own for a sort of physical reprieve.

"Mickey landed in Atlantic City one hot night last summer," said a friend. "The only room he could find in the resort was a double-bedded one—and another man had already contracted for the other bed. In the morning Mr. Shea rolled over with a sleepy grunt, awakened slowly, and then peered in horror into the mirror. He beheld his roommate sharpening a set of yellow teeth with Mr. Shea's own toothbrush.

"Fine morning, shipmate," said the offender, when Mr. Shea finally climbed out of bed.

"True for you," said Mr. Shea heartily. He proceeded slowly with his toilet. By and by he began to look around the room.

"See anything of a toothbrush around here?" he asked.

"Why, yes," said the other. "Here is one on the mantel."

"O," said Shea. "That isn't my toothbrush. I use that to put flea powder on my dog."—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Finesse.

Senator Cummins, discussing a campaign victory, said with a smile:

"It was won by finesse. The finesse displayed in it reminds me of a Concord banquet.

"Why is it that you fellows are omitting wine from your banquet this year?" one Concord man asked another.

"So as to make sure of the presence of the A1 after dinner speakers of the country," was the reply. "We have invited them, and they won't dare to stay away."

"Why not?"

"For the reason that if they did people would say it was because there was no wine, you know."

Files in New Houses Explained.

"Moving into an apartment that had never before been occupied," said a flat-dweller, "we were struck unpleasantly by the number of files we found there and for their presence we were quite unable to account.

"It was some relief to us to be told by a friend that there are always lots of files in new houses; that they are drawn by the paste used in the papering, and while the work is going they have free ingress; and then when the house is finished it is likely to be closed up and the files left there to be found when the first tenant moves in."

Pronounced Check.

Woggley had been found guilty, and sentenced to pay a fine of $50.

"Oh, well," he said, "of course I'll have to pay, because I am in a great hurry to get on, but I haven't $50 in my pocket. Will you take my check?"

"Sure," said the justice.

Woggley drew his check, and at once proceeded to crank up his machine.

"Hyar, mister," cried the justice, "they hain't no need of your doin' that. I'd ought to have told ye we'll hev to hold that there car ez s'ourity till the check goes through."—Harper's Weekly.

NEW IDEA SEIZES ENGLAND

League to Prevent Domestic Breezes From Developing Into Gales Is Latest Fad Taken Up.

A National League for the Promotion of Domestic Happiness is the latest proposal for England. It has for its promoters a few clergymen who have been impressed by the extraordinary number of couples in their parishes who have obtained separation orders from the magistrates because of domestic strife.

The idea of the clerics is that magistrates are too accommodating to applicants chafing under the matrimonial harness and if efforts were made to subdue domestic breezes they would mostly be prevented from developing into gales. So this league is to organize ministers of all denominations and kind Christians of both sexes to act as peacemakers.

They will take their respective parishes under survey and in cases of household strife where the husband is at fault the member of the league most likely to influence him will be selected to intervene and subsequently keep an eye on the culprit. If the wife is the offender then some sympathetic woman will plead with her.

Most enthusiastic workers among the poor, especially in the north, call these separation orders the "working class equivalent to divorce," the latter being too expensive for them to obtain.

The consequence is they have no real freedom, and looseness of morals is the result. In industrial centers, where both husband and wife are wage earners, this is especially the case. Lancashire alone has 25,000 people separated by law, but not free to remarry.

Dr. Wiley Asserts They Endure Agonizing Pain When Dressed With Tabasco Sauce.

"Oysters on the half shell suffer untold agony when eaten," said Dr. Harvey Wiley, formerly Uncle Sam's pure food expert, the other night, according to a New York Herald Washington correspondent. "Ninety per cent of them when eaten are alive and kicking. They suffer the most excruciating pains when you jab them with a fork and follow with a sprinkling of salt, pepper and tabasco sauce."

"It is true that they are a very low order of life, but as they eat and drink they must be alive animals and have feeling. Imagine some monster coming to earth from Mars who thought that we poor human beings were very succulent morsels of food when eaten alive. It would indeed be a nice sensation to be poked full of holes and covered with about six pounds of salt."

"However, this will not deter me from indulging in the delicious half-shell habit. I am going to eat my oysters in such a way as to save them pain—one jab with a fork, put the sauce on quickly and then gobble it."

"It's a good thing that they can't yell and jump, for if this were so our dining rooms would be full of tragic wailings and shrieks. However, this would not be so bad, for we would then have the alternative of cooking them."

Paid Scott $15,000 for a Poem.

What is the highest price ever paid by a publisher for a poem? It would be interesting to know whether any advance has ever been made on the $15,000 that Scott received for "Rokeby." Stephen Gwynn, in his life of Moore, tells us that Murray offered $10,000 for the copyright of "Lalla Rookh," but Moore's friends thought he should have more and, going to Longman, they claimed that Mr. Moore should receive no less than the highest price ever paid for a poem. "That," said Longman, "was $15,000 paid for 'Rokeby.'" On this basis they treated, and Longman was inclined to stipulate for a preliminary payment. Moore, however, refused, and the agreement was finally worded: "That upon your giving into our hands a poem of the length of 'Rokeby' you shall receive from us a sum of $15,000."

Light Like That of Day.

Patents have just been taken out in Germany for using marble instead of glass in lamps, which has the effect of making the illumination scarcely distinguishable from daylight. Innumerable experiments have been made with tinted and patterned types of glass with the idea of producing this effect, but all have been failures. As a last recourse a sheet of white marble was placed down until it was semi-transparent, and then different intensities of light were shown from behind. The result was exactly what so many hundreds of experiments had failed to produce.

Developing this discovery the patentees have fitted lights to the cornice of a room with such success that it is difficult to prove that it is artificially lighted.

Poet's Unhappy Childhood.

Thomas Gray, author of the immortal elegy, was one of 12 children and the only one of the lot that lived. His seemed destined to go the way of his brothers and sisters, and was suffering from convulsions, when his mother, in desperation, opened a vein in his arm with a pair of scissors and saved his life. His father, a sour, jealous man, had no use for him or for his mother, and never contributed to their support. His lonely and unhappy childhood explains the melancholy that tinged his life and writings.

Why Salves Can't Cure Eczema

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin diseases. But it has been found that these salves only clog the pores and cannot penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged. This—the quality of penetrating—probably explains the tremendous success of what D.D.D. will do for you that we offer you a full size bottle of this guarantee—If you do not find that it takes away the itch AT ONCE, it costs you not a cent.
